

Daydream

Lily Meola

{ Verse 1 }

When we were kids in the backyard
Playing astronauts and rockstars
No one told us to stop it
Called us unrealistic
Then suddenly, you're eighteen
Go to college for your plan "B"
What you want is too risky
Live for weekends and whiskey

[Refrain]

We all got these big ideas
One day, they're replaced with fears
How did we get here?

{ Chorus }

Darling, don't quit your daydream
It's your life that you're making
It ain't big enough if it doesn't scare the hell out of you
If it makes you nervous
It's probably worth it
Why save it for sleep when you could be living your daydream?

{ Verse 2 }

Thirty-one, waiting tables
She has the voice of an angel
Out of money and power
She only sings in the shower
All these things we say we'll get to
Shot down by the reasons not to

{ Chorus }

Darling, don't quit your daydream
It's your life that you're making
It ain't big enough if it doesn't scare the hell out of you
If it makes you nervous
It's probably worth it
Why save it for sleep when you could be living your daydream?

[Bridge]

So scared of failure that we fail to try
Turning around before the finish line

Gotta fall for a minute before you can fly

{Chorus}

So daydream

It's your life that you're making

It ain't big enough if it doesn't scare the hell out of you

If it makes you nervous (Ah-ah-ah)

It's probably worth it (Ah-ah)

Why save it for sleep when you could be living your daydream?

[Outro]

Why save it for sleep when you should be living your daydream?

Lyrics provided by <https://www.geniuslyrics.info/>